BREAK IN WHEAT MARKET. CLOSES ENSTEADY AT A DECLINE OF

2 TO 2 1-2c. Drop Came in Response to a 5c Break at Liverpool-Corn Also Lower -Oats and Provisions Strong.

Chicago, April 29.-Wheat to-day closed unsteady at decline of 2624c on the Chicago exchange in re-ponse to a 5c break at Liverpool. At one time the thicago market showed a loss of 3c. Corn closed 1/2c lower. Oats were strong, especially May, which closed 1½c higher, while July gained ½c. Fears of a eze in May caused the bulge. Only 600,000 bushels are in store against an estimated short interest of 5,000,000. Provisions were irregular, but closed strong with lard, which ruled independently firm on

For the first time in four days the Liverpool market to-day showed signs of weakening. It started at declines averaging Tipe a bushel, except for spot grain, which was quoted like higher. This was the first setback in the foreign market after Tipe advance. The bears were jubilant, thinking as they did that the so-called speculative bubble abroad had exploded. Quotations Iig63c a bushel higher from London, 4igc at Mark Lane and 2igc at Paris were day worth 36igc, started at from 33igc to 32igc. A little covering carried it up to 34igc. This demand was soon filled and bottom was not reached until 274c. Ribs gained 24c. For the first time in four days the Liverpool marexploded. Quotations 14,600 a bushel higher from London, 416c at Mark Lane and 236c at Paris were quietly incred, and July, which closed here yesterday worth 26,16c, started at from 2336c to 255c. A little covering carried it up '0 2436c. This demand was soon filled and bottom was not reached until July had sold at 25½c. Wheat receipts showed considerable increase, 67,000 bushels at primary points, against 26,000 bushels last year. Northwestern receipts were 522 cars against 375 cars last year. Atlantic ports cleared 402,000 bushels, wheat and flour. Closing Liverpool cables brought the buils no relief, that market winding up at the bottom of a 5c decline for July. But the local crowd, which had apparently sold short almost to a man, tried to cover half an hour before the close and had to cower half an hour before the close and had to cower half an hour before the close and had to cower half an hour before the close and had to compete with heavy New York buying. The result was a bulge of 25c in July, which touched 945c. Realizing carried it back to 855c at the close, a net loss of 2c. May, which opened at $1.20\cdot 61 to $1.17\dagger constitution of the country acceptances were heavy, export acceptances comparatively light and elevator people and other receivers sold against come to arrive from the country. The lowest prices were heavy, export acceptances comparatively light and elevator people and other receivers sold against come to arrive from the country. The lowest prices were made at the start, but the heavy feeling prevented any material recovery. Receipts were 467 cars, and 58,000 bushels were inspected out of store. Atlantic ports cleared $57,000 bushels. Liverpool spot corn was quoted 4d lower. July opened \(\frac{1}{2} \) for an opened \(\frac{1}{2} \) for the most part cash acceptances caused a rally and especially in May. The short interest in the latter month is supposed to be about $5,000,000 bushels, and only $60,500 bushels are stored here. Atlantic ports week, wheat shipments from this country and can be about 6,000,000 bushels, and only bushels are stored here. Atlantic ports 221,000 bushels are stored here. A special Argentine cable says the wheat market is firm and an active demand exists, with a large surplus available.

A message from Omaha to W. W. Cowen yesterday said: Corn is costing 266;7c in Western Nepraska. San Francisco has set them wild.

Exporters took at New York and outports Thursday 440,000 bushels of wheat, 1,230,000 bushels of corn, 112,000 bushels of rye and 225,000 bushels of corn, 112,000 bushels of rye and 225,000 bushels of cats.

Peavy, of Minneapolis, sent the following cable to London: "What is your opinion of the European market? Will demand continue at present prices?" He received the following reply: "Advance due to temporary scarcity. Our market will be influenced by yours."

The primary market receipts yesterday were 677,000

665 bushels.

Argentine wheat shipments this week amounted to 944,000 bushels, against 1,112,000 bushels last week and 64,000 bushels a year ago. Corn shipments, 125,000 bushels against 64,000 bushels last week and 136,000 bushels a year ago. In the seventeen weeks since January 1 Argentine wheat shipments have been 16,526,000 bushels, compared with 1,687,000 bushels for the same period last year.

The Chicago Record says: There was very little consideration given to anything yesterday in the way of wheat news except the English cables; they were enough to keep the trade guessing. Shorts covered freely and on the buiges a great deal of long wheat was for sale to secure profits. The story was current at the close that foreigners were seilling freely on this side. There is no longer any doubt that wheat is connered at London and Liverpool and that pretended scarcity has very little to do with the advance. May advanced there yesterday 10½c per bushel. The opinion is gaining that Letter is the factor.

Glotto's Campanile.

In April St. Nicholas, Mr. John Ward writes of "The Bell-Towers of Italy," In speaking of Glotto, Mr. Ward says:

This great and well beloved artist, who was at once painter, poet, sculptor, and architect, was popularly supposed to have been a shepherd. Tradition tells us that as he daily tended his flock in the pasture, one little lamb was ever by his side, showing him the most touching affection. When at him the most touching affection. When at last the little lamb was about to die, it last the little lamb was about to die, it spoke in verse to the shepherd, telling him that its spirit would remain with him always, in the form of a fairy, and that through its favor he was to become a great artist. At all events, the prophecy came true, for Giotto became an artist of worldwide fame, and he built a tower in Florence known as Giotto's Campanile. It is said that here the fairy has dwelt ever since, among the bells, flitting through the silent spaces.

Giotto, commanded by the city to build an edifice which in height and richness was to surpass any previous structure in the world's history, in 1234 laid the cornerstone of his great tower. No expense was spared, and some of the greatest artists worked and some of the greatest artists worked upon it. Sculptures by Donatello, Andrea Pisano, and Luca della Robbia decorate the Pisano, and Luca della Robbia decorate the basement story, and comprise several series of subjects; the seven Liberal Arts and Sciences, the seven Cardinal Virtues, the seven Works of Mercy, the Invention of Navigation, besides many religious and historical subjects from the creation down. The upper three stories are ornamented with spiral shafts and carved moldings, and the whole is built in alternate courses of black and white marble, the contrasting tints of which have been mellowed and softened by time.

From the Philadelphia Record.

"Say, you want to hear this story," said the Reading railroad conductor. "It's a good one on Joe Gibson, one of our fellows. Joe's a good deal of a kidder himself, but the boys are having their turn at him now. It happened up in the Trenton yards a few nights since. Joe's train was to be sidetracked at Nice avenue. Well, when the train arrived at that point Joe jumped off and ran ahead to the switch. He threw the switch over and waved his lantern to the engineer to come ahead. The next minute Joe happened to glance due east down the track, and he nearly dropped his lantern with fright. There was the great round headilght of another engine beaming down upon him upon the wropped his lantern with fright. There was the great round headlight of another engine beaming down upon him upon the very track his train was about to take. Recovering himself, he swung his lantern furiously, at the same time shouting: 'Pull out; pull out; Don't you see her coming?' The engineer jammed her up, and stopped short. 'What's the matter?' he shouted. Joe had gathered some new knowledge in the meantime, and his expression changed completely. He didn't say anything, but simply gave the signal to go ahead. When the engineer pulled onto the track he saw the full moon climbing over the track dead ahead of him. Joe had simply flagged the moon, that's all."

New York, April 29.—The built campaign inaugurated yesterday was continued with aggressive vigor today in the stock market, and prices were lifted from 1 to nearly 4 points throughout the active list. The sharp advance did not bring out any large amount of offers to realize, but there was some profit taking, apparently by the small traders in the late dealings, which clipped off the extreme gains for the day. It was notable, however, throughout the day, that any marked reaction in prices immediately led to a cessation of offerings, and the market fell into intense dulliness. The rather hesitating and unsettled tone of Americans in London was ignored, and prices were confidently advanced here from the opening. There was no important opposition to the built campaign, and prices moved quite easily, the supply of stocks continuing rather limited. The volume of business showed a further increase over yesterday and further additions to the list of active stocks. The speculative leaders which were bought by the built content were followed by other stocks whose friends desired to see them keep pace with the rest of the market. There were no new developments during the day beyond the continued confidence in the general situation. The declaration of neutrality by Portugal may possibly have had some slight influence. But the main consideration was the satisfaction felt over the excellerk gunnery on the United States ships at Matanzas and in pursuit of prizes, and the ineffective efforts of the Spaniards off the Philippines. The strength of the market was quite general, but none of the specialties, notably Rugar. Manhattan and Metropolitan Street Railway, moved more orderly than the specialties, notably Rugar. commercial paper. Accommodations in these departments are now more easily had, as the outlook is believed to favor easier money conditions. This may lead to the stiffening in the call loan rate as tending somewhat to equalize the charges in the different departments of the money market.

There is increased inquiry for railroad bonds, with the promise of easier conditions on the money market. Prices moved upward to-day on an increased volume of business. Total sales, 31,450,000.

Government bonds were strong. The new 4s coupon and the 2s advanced 1 per cent, the new 4s registered and the old 4s registered 45, and the old 4s coupon and the 2s coupon 45 per cent in the bid prices. There were sales of the new 4s, both coupon and registered, at an advance over the last sale price, but the old 4s registered showed a decline of 35 on actual sales from the last price.

Dry Goods.

Dry Goods.

New York, April 29.—As the week draws to a close the conditions seem to grow better in the dry goods market. The demand has been stimulated by the call for goods for government use, and this has strengthened the market to some degree. Staple cottons have gained in position during the past week, and it is practically impossible to secure price concessions on staple goods except for odd lots. The greatest activity has been in ducks and denims and similar lines affected by the needs of the army. Flag bunting continues in great demand, and it is practically impossible for printers to keep up with their deliveries. Print cloths have sold in very limited numbers during the week.

There was less snap to the market yesterday, though a very good demand was had in a quiet way. The opening was steady, with both packers and shippers making fair purchases. But as the day advanced and reports came in from points east of us of alight declines, buyers here held back and demanded concessions, and late sales were 2½55c lower, and as holders were slow to accept these reductions a number had to be carried over unsold at the close. The extreme range was $2.0064.00; bulk of sales, $3.70@ 2.85.

There has been no flag over the stock There has been no flag over the stock yards exchange building for a long time, and its absence is being missed during these war times. The commission men doing business at the yards in response to a general sentiment yesterday sent a petition to Assistant General Manager H. P. Child requesting him to hoist "Old Glory" over the building at once and keep it there and let the flagstaff be capped by America's proudest bird, the eagle.

Idaho is importing California cattle. L. H. Sweetser, one of the largest cattle owners of that state, has just returned from California, says the Sait Lake Tribune, and reports that Will White has purchased $,000 cattle from the Promontory Cattle Company, for which he paid $300,000. This makes, he says, a cleanup for the company, which has found cattle raising at long range unprofitable for many years past. What the intention is with reference to the ranch, which is one of the most extensive on the line of the Southern Pacific, is not known, but the belief prevails that it is also waiting for a buyer. The principal owners in the company were the Crockers, who were unable to give the enterprise their personal attention, and whe have long expressed a desire to retire from Idaho is importing California cattle. There was a better market for choice heavy steers yesterday than for some days. Jake Skillman, of Paola, Kas., was in with thirty-three choice grade steers of his own feeding that at once attracted the attention of export buyers. They were smooth and very fleshy. They averaged 1.45 pounds and were sold by the M. K. & T. Live Stock Commission Company at 5.00, the highest price of the day. The Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Company took them for the export trade.

Of the toppy cattle here yesterday there were nineteen steers brought in by George Karnes, of Ontario, Kas., that were quick to attract attention. They were a well ripened and smooth set of bullocks of his own feeding, and while they averaged only 1,479 pounds. Thomas Trowers' Sons sold them at $4.95, within 5c of the top price of the day. The Armour Packing Company took them for its dressed beef trade.

Among the export steers here yesterday were ten heavy bullocks brought in by J. H. Stahl, of Emporia, Kas. They were of his own feeding and showed skillful handling. They averaged 1,520 pounds and were sold by Jones Bros. at $5.00, the top of the market. A. Meyer took them on an Eastern order.

Care of Carpets.

To keep a pile carpet fresh in the city is a task requiring careful management. Wilton and other pile carpets catch the dirt easily, but it is not difficult to remove the grim. A carpet of this description should require to be thoroughly swept with a long broom only once a week, as constant hard brooming is bad for the carpet. It is of the utmost importance that the broom used should be clean. Frequent washing will not hurt the broom and will help to preserve the carpet. If tea leaves are required to lay the dust they should be well washed in two or three waters and then shaken in a cloth before being strewn over the carpet, so that they are only over the carpet, so that they are only slightly damp and quite free from tea, which would stain the carpet. Every other which would stain the carpet. Every other week after the carpet has been swept it should be wiped all over with a flannel wrung out of warm, soapy water. The flannel should be dipped into the water frequently and squeezed sufficiently not to make the carpet wet. When the washing is completed the entire carpet should be rubbed with a large dry cloth. A carpet kept clean in this manner will last longer than if only brushed and look fresh after being in use for ten years, provided it is of average quality to begin with.
